WARRANTEE DEEDS FOR SALE.

DAILY GAZETTE.

THE GREAT FIGHT IN CHARLESTON BAY.

Full and Interesting Particulars.

[Concluded.]

The Ironsides continued almost helpless at the mercy of the tide—now gaining a little, now backing, now striking bottom, now surging to right and left—officers and crew restive. The enemy's guns were continually playing upon us. We had not yet returned a single shot. There was, indeed, something grand in this scornful disdain of the rebel fire; but our gunners nevertheless chafed under it. At last, at 4:30, while swinging on the star-board side, our port broadside came to bear fully on Fort Moultrie, and Commodore Turner would not let this opportunity slip. "Open port holes," "Aim," "Fire," followed by a scornful concussion of the air, and the first and only offensive effort of the Ironsides in the action was made. Shortly after the strong ebb tide rendered it utterly impossible to make headway with the ship, and the order was given to drop back. Never was a command more reluctantly given or obeyed. Deep chagrin settled upon all. Still no other course was left, and we slowly steamed back, after signalling to the monitors to withdraw from the action and follow the flagship and anchored under the guns of Fort Wagoner.

While the Ironsides struggled, a passing mark, with the tide, the other eight iron-clads had one after another become engaged in what will live in history as the most desperate—despite its brief duration—naval action known to mankind. I have already made an attempt to describe the raking, roaring intensity of the concentric fire of the rebel works. I might fill page after page with descriptive phrases without reflecting the reality of its fury. The facts and figures respecting the effect upon the monitors I give below will convey a better idea of its character than vain word painting.

Under it the captains of the Weehawken, Passaic, Montauk, and Patapsco were working with might and main to come abreast, with their badly steering vessels, of the northwest face of the fort, as directed in the order of battle, firing all the while their guns, now at Sumter then at Moultrie. But they were still under the fire of the northeast face, when they discovered three lines of floating obstructions, with another consisting of a row of piles across the whole harbor a short distance beyond. They endeavored to gain the narrow passage left open through the first, but found themselves unable to exercise sufficient control over their vessels to do so. While making this attempt the turret of the Passaic was so bent in by a single shot as to make the working of the 11-inch gun impracticable. A short while after the turret refused altogether to turn, depriving her of all offensive power. The 200-pounder Parrot of the Patapsco also became early disabled.

But, aside from these damages to two, the fact that not one of the four could make headway past the batteries, rendered their stay under the heaviest fire useless, and hence turned about and steered back, after having been in concentine range nearly an hour. The motion of the Weehawken was very much impeded by the Ericsson raft chained to her bow. A torpedo exploded close to her port side, but did not inflict any damage. On the way up the Patapsco's screw caught in a kind of net work of cable, kept afloat by barrels, and perpendicular by weights. For a while it seemed as though she could not be extricated from the mesh, but in the end she got clear.

The Catskill, Nantucket, Nahant and Keokuk had the same experience. When the Catskill and Nantucket got entangled with the Ironsides, the last mentioned steamed ahead of the three others, but all four got into action shortly after each other, and about the time that those that had preceded them were turning. The enemy had by no means spent the force of their fire upon the first four. The increased number of assailants seemed to spur them, on the contrary, into doubling their energies For half an hour the scene of action was wrapped in intensified sheets of flame, clouds of smoke and sprays of water. Then the impassibility of the obstructions compelled the last four to follow suit with the first.

The Catskill, Nantucket and Nahant had kept their course half-way between Forts Sumter and Moultrie, and received the hottest fire of both. The Keokuk had stood more to the left, and come within 300 yards of Fort Sumter, the fire of the whole northeast face of which it seemed to sustain for some time alone, without being able to fire more than three shots in return—from what cause I will show below.

About fifteen minutes before 9 o'clock a signal was made from the flag-ship to cease firing and withdraw from the enemy's fire. Shortly after 3 o'clock the monitors, followed by the Keokuk, run within hail of the flag-ship, and the fires of the enemy stopped. In dropping down, the Nantucket used a few shots at Fort Wagner, which were the last fired on our side.

Upon coming out of range, the hatchways of the Ironsides were opened, and we could once more have a full view of things around us. As I reached the spar deck, the Keokuk was just passing our starboard side, with Capt. Rhind leaping about the forward turret. A sorry sight was presented. Her sides and turrets showed innumerable holes. She was evidently used up. The Nahant, Patapsco, and Nantucket also passed, and the commanders of each reported more or less damage. The pilot-house of the former was badly shattered.

But the full extent of the injuries to the iron clads was not known till their commanders severally reported them to the Admiral in the course of the evening. The Keokuk had 90 shots in all; 19 on the water-line (12 starboard, 7 port); 15 in the after turret (5 of them through; 1 Whitworth steel pointed remained sticking in the wall); 12 in the forward turret (three of them through); 25 on the sloping sides (15 starboard, 10 port); 8 through sheeting on after turret; 10 through smokestack (7 through, 3 glanced); 4 through the boats; 2 glanced off the deck; 1 cut signal staff; 3 or 4 went through the flag.

The New Ironsides was hit between sixty and seventy times, but sustained no material damage. One of the shutters of port five port side was knocked off; an eleven-inch shell lodged in the bow, between the sides and the sand bags. A shot passed through the smokestack, and her bulwarks were much shattered.

The Weehawken was struck fifty-nine times. The turret was badly dented and worked with difficulty. Many bolts in the pilot-house had been loosened and driven through.

The Montauk was hit twenty times; the Passaic fifty-eight times. In addition to the damage already stated, her pilot-house was much weakened by the loosening and driving through of the bolts. The Nantucket was struck fifty-one times, and had her turret stopped twice by shot. The Catskill received about the same number of shots. Both the latter had their decks almost torn open by rifle bolts.

The Patapsco was hit between forty and fifty times, and, besides the disabling of her 200-pounder Parrott, had her turret much dented and pilot-house weakened.

The Nahant was struck eighty times, and had her pilot-house almost broken into pieces. Four men were wounded on it, one mortally, from flying bolts.

Of ammunition, the different vessels fired:

Ironsides	8 rounds.	Passaic	9 rounds.
Catskill	25 "	Nahant	24 "
Keokuk	3 "	Weehawken	28 "
Montauk	26 "	Patapsco	18 "
Nantucket,	15 "
Total,			151.

In spite of the comparative weakness of our fire, considerable damage was done to the forts. The north-east face of Fort Sumter was marked with eleven holes, plainly visible at three miles off. Some gaps were three feet wide, and looked as though the shot had ploughed right through the wall. Two embrasures seemed almost knocked into one. One of our first shots brought down the flagstaff of Fort Moultrie.

I conversed with all the captains of the iron-clads during their meeting on board. But opinions had but one drift: that it would be folly and sure destruction to renew the attack after to-day's experience, resulting in the total disabling of two (Keokuk and Passaic) and partial of three more (Nahant, Nantucket and Patapsco.) The admiral quietly listened to their opinions, but did not make his decision upon the question of the renewal or abandonment of the attack known.

APRIL 8, 1863.

Late last evening the whole squadron dropped down the channel and anchored close to the bar.

Almost my first look this morning fell upon a sad sight. The Keokuk was sinking. She anchored on the bar during the night. Her crew had been busy ever since last evening trying to keep her afloat by plugging the holes at her water line.

But at day-break a stiff breeze set the sea rolling, rendering their attempt futile. Capt. Rhind hoisted a signal of distress at about 7, but it remained unnoticed until nearly 8, when the tug Dandeline came along the sinking craft. Through the strenuous efforts of her captain, Acting Master Barrymore, every soul on board was saved, with a loss, however, of all they had.

The crew were received with lusty cheers on board the Ironsides, and in the course of the morning on board the Wissahickon.

The Keokuk went down precisely at 8:10, with her flag flying, in eighteen fathoms of water. In order to prevent the rebels from appropriating the machinery and guns, the wreck will be blown up.

The Weehawken lost her raft during the night. In the course of the morning there was a hot action on Morris Island. The admiral soon declared his intention to the captain of the iron-clads to withdraw from the harbor and abandon the attack for the present. When I left on Wednesday evening last, the iron-clads remaining (the Patapsco had started for Port Royal during the day,) were to recross the bar on the following morning.

THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.

Who take pleasure in placing their Machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make and have all the advantage of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a Letter Stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

Gordonsville Captured.

Our dispatches, to-day, announce the capture of Gordonsville and Culpepper by Gen. Stoneman and their occupation by a force of infantry and artillery. This is the first time that Gordonsville has been in our possession, and it is an important strategic point.

The Ballot Box in the Army.

The Milwaukee News continues its attacks upon the soldiers. They do not vote to suit the party which is opposing the war, and hence the News denounces them as having no right to exercise the right of suffrage. That paper has an article in which it endeavors to prove that our volunteer soldiers have no independent opinions upon political subjects, but are "mere machines, obeying in thought and action the will of their masters," the officers. The soldier, it says, loses his individuality when he joins the army, and is subject to the merest whim of his superior. It further declares that the soldier possesses neither the right to free discussion, nor a free ballot. The News therefore concludes that the exercise of the right of suffrage by the soldiers is an "outrage," and another evidence that the constitution is mere waste paper.

We believe these charges of the slavishness of our soldiers to their officers are entirely false. There are no more independent men in the whole country, in respect to their political opinions than our American volunteers. The entire freedom with which they express themselves in their private and published correspondence, is strong evidence to prove the assertions of the News entirely unfounded.

If the soldiers were not free to vote for whom they pleased, there would have been an entire unanimity at the ballot-box, but we find them voting for Cothren as well as Dixon, in all the regiments, except one, and that, the 24th, is commanded by a democrat. This was the only attempt to control free expression of opinion among the Wisconsin soldiers, and it could only have succeeded by the suppression of every vote by arbitrary authority. If an election had been permitted at all in that regiment, the ballots would have been divided, we cannot doubt, as in all the other regiments. There are other facts to disprove the assertions of the News: In several regiments commanded by democrats, the reports show that both candidates received votes, and in two of them, the 17th and 23d, Cothren, the democratic candidate, received majorities. These facts entirely invalidate the theory of the News that the soldiers are mere "machines," in mind as well as body, voting only as the officers dictate to them. We consider this aspersion upon the manly and independent character of our volunteer soldiery a downright insult, as well as entirely false. If any men on the continent have a right to vote and to influence in this way the policies of the war, they are those who are periling their lives in the defence of the country.

Those who censure and condemn free suffrage in the volunteer army, do so, we believe, through narrowness of mind and a partizan spirit. The News speaks of the "unanimity of the soldiers' vote in the late judicial election," and this is the cause of its opposition. They voted against the copperhead candidate. If they had been equally unanimous in his favor, we should have heard no complaint from that quarter. The ballots of the soldiers tell us that they do not sympathize with the opponents of the war, but are united in favor of its continuance until the rebellion is thoroughly crushed. We thus get at the public opinion which exists in the army. It is in favor of the government and against the copperheads. It disproves the oft repeated assertions that the army is tired of service, and wants a peace by compromises with the rebels. It makes it plain, too, that the army is against the party which is endeavoring to obstruct the prosecution of the war. The army affects public opinion at home, and its expressed sentiment is a potent and irresistible power, which is rallying patriots everywhere to the standard of the Union, and in this the copperhead party reads its doom. That is what troubles the Milwaukee News.

THE INDIAN WAR.—From the Sioux City Register of the 21st ult., we learn that under the direction of General Cook, arrangements were being perfected for the Indian expedition. The 6th Iowa cavalry was anxiously looked for. The programme arranged for the expedition contemplates a movement directly up the Missouri river upon both sides, by the troops under command of General Cook, to be accompanied by a steamer with supplies, while the force being organized in Minnesota will proceed by a more northerly route in the direction of Devil's Lake, in the neighborhood of which a junction will probably be formed, when such arrangements will be made for further operations as circumstances may suggest.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS AT WASHINGTON.—The National Intelligencer of the 13th states that a great portion, if not all the troops around Washington moved off yesterday and day before. Their destination is not stated.

The roads are now passably good in Virginia, Gen. Hooker's forces are in fine condition and spirits, the president has recently visited and reviewed the army of the Potomac, and there is every indication of an immediate movement on the enemy. Perhaps the troops in and around Washington have gone to join in it.

The Albany Journal, of Tuesday evening, says: "Passengers from Washington last night report that Hooker's army moved in three directions yesterday, and that a large body of troops from Baltimore and near Washington, also were in motion. The cavalry corps were understood to have been extended forward at the same time."

SPEECH OF ADJ. GEN. THOMAS AT LAKE PROVIDENCE.—General Thomas addressed McPherson's corps, at Lake Providence, on the 8th. He said he came with full power from the President to announce the policy determined on. He came from him clothed with the fullest power to act precisely as if the president were there himself—directed to refer nothing to Washington, but to act promptly; to strike down the unworthy and lift up the deserving. After speaking of southern white men being in the army and negroes in the field, he said: "The administration has determined to take from the rebels that source of supply; to take their negroes and compel them to send back a portion of their whites; and a very poor substitute the southern white man will make for the darky field hand. They come into your camps; you cannot but receive them—you will receive them. The authorities at Washington are very much pained to hear that this poor, unfortunate race has been turned from us—refused admittance within our lines. All of you, some days, have been on picket duty. I charge you, if any of this unfortunate race come to your lines, that you will not repel them, but receive them cordially. They are to be encouraged to come in, received kindly, fed, clothed and armed. I have the fullest authority for dismissing from the army any man, be his rank what it may, that I find maltreating this unfortunate race. I would rather do that than give commissions, because such men are unworthy the name of soldiers. This is the determined policy of the administration. When the government puts his foot down, it is there, and he is not going to take it up. He has put it down, and I am here to give my weight and influence to see that he does not raise his foot."

ROBBERY OF A JEWELRY STORE IN MILWAUKEE.—We mentioned yesterday the fact of the burglary at the jewelry store of Cogswell, Glen & Co. It was one of the most novel and ingenious burglaries ever committed in this city. The hole in the ceiling of the store, and through the floor of Finches, Lynde & Miller's office, is so small that many have wondered, as they looked at it, that a man could ever have got through it. Then after getting through, the unfortunate had to descend almost 10 feet to the floor of the store, and after securing his booty, ascend, and again get through the hole. Many think that a boy must have been let through the hole, and then pulled up again after securing the plunder. At all events it was planned by an accomplished thief.

There was undoubtedly an alarm of some kind before the parties got through with their job; for they left some of the most valuable jewelry upon the show case, also left the gas burning in the store, and left behind them a pair of gaiters which they had been wearing, and also a piece of rope which they had used, and other articles. The entrance into Finches, Lynde & Miller's law office was made through a small window over the door. There was no private watchman about the block, but parties are often passing in and out of the main entrance which leads up to the law offices and past them, at nearly all hours of the night, and there would have been no reason to suspect any one particularly had he been seen going in or coming out of the building.

There were about 70 watches taken, the majority of them good, gold ones, which had been left to be repaired. There were also a good many watch chains, rings and various kinds of jewelry taken. The entire loss was not far from what we stated, $3,000. The proprietors of the store are young men, who can ill afford the loss, and they have the sympathy of the community, who hope to see the robbers arrested, and the goods recovered.—Wisconsin.

THE VOTE ON CHIEF JUSTICE.—The vote of this town on chief justice ought not to be taken as a compliment by Mr. Montgomery M. Cothren. No special effort had been made against him nor in favor of Judge Dixon. Furthermore, there was a general feeling of dissatisfaction, among republicans, at the failure of the republican party to nominate somebody, for there were very few who felt any confidence in the ability of Judge Dixon, and many believed that he was hostile to the chief war measures of the administration, of which we think there is little doubt. His late decision in the habeas corpus case of Nicholas Kemp was deemed inimical to the policy of the administration, and it was impossible for administration men to give him that hearty support which they would have given an unspoken Union man, whose views were well known to be sound. The vote given him, therefore, was so given for the purpose of saving our state, if possible, the disgrace which would be entailed upon it by the election of Cothren, for Judge Dixon was, at least, considered a respectable man, morally and intellectually.

The light vote may be partly attributed to the fact that many farmers declined to vote for Dixon because of his views upon the farm mortgage question; and therefore staid away from the polls altogether.—Whitewater Register.

TELEGRAPH.

RECEIVED OVER THE U. P. LINES BY MISSOURI STATE TELEGRAPH CO.

Last Night's Report.

CAIRO, April 16.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—The steamer Era has just arrived from below, bringing news from Young's Point to Sunday evening. Work on the Duckport canal was being vigorously pushed. The health of the army is excellent. The sanitary stores sent down have worked a great improvement in the commissary department, which is better served.

Col. Hawkins, chief commissary, is to be promoted to a brigadier general, and placed in charge of a negro brigade. All negroes coming into our lines are retained and will be organized as soon as possible.

Gen. Grant remarked in the presence of my informant, on Sunday morning, that Gen. Steele had destroyed half a million bushels of corn and immense quantities of bacon. This being so, the rebels cannot be so near starved out as we supposed.

The Lady Franklin brought up eight hundred and fifty bales of cotton for Cincinnati.

John Collins, company I, 54th Illinois, was shot in a saloon here this morning with a shot gun in the hands of a southern refugee named McDade. Collins died almost immediately. McDade is arrested.

The following named persons were arrested here this evening, wearing the copperhead badge: D. W. Hamlin, John O'Callahan, Jas. Egan, Hugh Dolan, A. F. Taylor, Moses Gray, J. B. Taylor, V. Delaudy, Jas. Spire. The Taylors are sons of Mayor Taylor, who it is added, also wore the badge, but took it off before being arrested.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 16.

A dispatch from Gen. Halleck to Gen. Dix, just received, states that Gen. Foster has been effectively relieved. A river steamer, with a regiment and supplies of provisions and ammunition, succeeding in running the batteries on Tar river, reached the wharf at Washington on the 14th.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

Rear Admiral Lee telegraphs to the secretary of war from off Newport News at 6 a. m., April 16th, that "reports from Lieutenants Cushing and Swanson have just been received. The enemy has not crossed the river and there is every indication that he is retreating, though he has still some artillery and sharpshooters on the Nansemond. Our boats shot down a number of their men to-day with canister. We have three wounded, making in all five killed and eighteen wounded in our flotilla, to which, from what we learn, the fight has been pretty much confined.

CAIRO, April 17.

Special to the Chicago Journal.—The dispatch boat Gen. Lyon has arrived from the fleet, leaving there on Tuesday morning. She brings but one important item of news, and that it would be improper to telegraph. The gunboat Chillicothe is on her way up to Cairo for repairs.

The Lyon brings four hundred bales of cotton, belonging to the navy.

The parties arrested here, last evening, for wearing on the public streets copperhead badges, were examined this morning by Gen. Hurlbut, and released with the distinct understanding that, in case of any further disloyal demonstrations, by word or deed, they would at once be sent south into the rebel lines.

Your special here (Mc.) is under arrest, by order of Gen. Grant, for having, several days ago, telegraphed from forbidden news. He goes to Memphis this evening. He can give very satisfactory reasons, and will no doubt be released as soon as Gen. Grant understands the circumstances.

NEW YORK, April 16.

A new gunboat is ordered at the Philadelphia navy yard, to suit the machinery of the captured steamer Princess Royal, to be named the Kansas.

NEW YORK, April 17.

A Washington letter says the President will remove to the Soldiers' Home in June. There is also a rumor afloat that the foreign ministers intend to remove their legations, temporarily, to the north.

The New York Evening Post says: "An important movement is on foot in the vicinity of Washington, and another, looking in a direction more remote. Results will be very soon developed."

WASHINGTON, April 16.

An authoritative contradiction to rumors of fighting on the Rappahannock is given to-day. It appears that it would have been impossible, owing to the prevalence of a storm for the past twenty-four hours.

Gov. Salomon, of Wisconsin, is in the city. He will shortly pay a visit to the army of the Rappahannock, for the purpose of looking after the wants and interests of the soldiers from his state.

The national loan has been taken, within the past two days, in greater amount than ever.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad's published returns show a greater amount of business over the main line for March than for any other month in the history of the road.

It is believed that, if the second dispatches sent out by the state department are not acceded to by the English ministry, Minister Adams has instructions to withdraw from London and return to this country. The character of the dispatches is much more emphatic than was at first anticipated.

Dispatches have just been received from our foreign ministers, but their contents are unknown.

The Peterhoff will probably be given up, with its mails. The President and Secretary Seward are said to both be in favor of this course.

HALIFAX, April 17.

There was a serious riot here last evening. About 300 soldiers broke from the barracks and rushed into the streets, assaulting citizens and doing all the damage they could. Fighting soon became indiscriminate between the citizens and the soldiers. Several were injured on both sides. A detachment of royal artillery finally appeared and drove the soldiers back to the barracks.

HALIFAX, April 16.

The steamship Arabia, from Liverpool the 4th via Queenstown the 5th, arrived this morning.

LATEST VIA QUEENSTOWN.—LIVERPOOL, April 5.—The steamship Australasian, from New York, arrived last night.

CRACOW, April 4.—The insurrection in the government of Kowal is increasing. Pontoniz has been taken by the insurgents. They have also captured Radom, which was evacuated by Gen. Alxowicz, and seized the public treasury of that town.

The Liverpool Albion publishes a letter from the foreign office to the owners of the Vanderbilt, which was seized by a federal cruiser, and liberated by the prize court, stating that the English minister at Washington will be instructed to apply to the government of the United States for full compensation to the parties interested.

A heavy collapse in the confederate loan occurred in London on the 2d, owing to the suspension of J. B. Spence of Liverpool, in the grain trade. Spence was supposed to be the confederate financial agent, but he proved not to be. The real person was not connected with him except by family ties. Nevertheless, the loan closed on the 2d at 1¼@1¾ discount.

The Times and Daily News both expatiate on the increasing irritation against England on account of the fitting out of confederate vessels and the possible adoption of retaliatory measures. The Times sees something to hope for in America from the inauguration of Union Leagues in the north, and an increasing demand among the republicans for a restoration of the Union at any price. The Times says: "European sympathy has been withheld simply because it was perceived that the whole southern people were in earnest about independence, while it was not apparent that any considerable part of the northern people were in earnest about emancipation."

The British man-of-war Orpheus has been wrecked on New Zealand. One hundred and eighty officers and men were drowned; seventy were saved.

POLAND.—Affairs were again threatening. The insurrection was increasing. The peasants, nobility, and middle classes have joined en masse.

Langiewicz was conveyed from Cracow into Moravia.

The Daily News publishes a manifesto of the Polish insurgents, which occupies seven columns.

Lapienskill, late a chief among the Circassians, had landed in Courland with a well officered force.

Russia was buying transports at Dantzic for the Vistula.

The Swedish government had laid an embargo on an English steamer at Malio, which was carrying a Polish detachment from England for Poland.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Daily Gazette by the Daily Telegraph.]

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

Special to Tribune.—Our forces, comprising cavalry, infantry and artillery, under General Stoneman, after making a feint at Kelly's Ford, crossed the Rappahannock higher up and pushed on to Culpepper and Gordonsville. They now occupy the latter place, having driven the enemy therefrom.

This breaks the line of the Virginia Central railroad and turns the flank of the rebels at Fredericksburg.

Those who are in possession of all that is known on the subject of our relations with Great Britain feel that they have reason to be more hopeful of a pacific solution of the pending questions than they were a few days ago. They think England is beginning to see the error of her ways, and that she will either through the agency of courts, or by some other means, stop the fleet now being fitted out in her ports from going to sea. All evidence, of late, points in this direction.

The monitors hereafter to be built, and so far as practicable those now building, will be required to be constructed in accordance with the terms of an additional specification drawn for the purpose of obviating certain defects of a comparatively unimportant character, brought to light during the recent cabinet in Charleston.

The president, secretary of war and provost marshal general were again in executive session to-day, over the appointments under the enrollment act. It is now believed, although there is no official intimation on the subject, that those for New York and Pennsylvania at least will be announced next week.

Gen. Abercrombie is to assume the command of the concentrated forces for the defense of Washington south of the Potomac. Gen. Casey retains his position as commander and organizer of provisional brigades, with headquarters in Washington, both under Gen. Heintzelman.

Herald's dispatch.—A report prevails today, that the rebel cavalry force which has been hovering around Bull Run mountains and Culpepper, have been surrounded by an expedition sent out by Gen. Stahl, and that their capture is almost certain. This is generally credited.

From the Charleston Mercury, April 11th: The question is reduced to the relative powers of the destruction of the forts and the assailing fleet. It is a question of block and superiorship in a square, stand up fight for victory. The iron clad fleets can be destroyed as well as forts. Fort Sumter although somewhat pitted, to-day, is no believe as it was when the fight began. We do not think if the attack is renewed it will be as before, and there is good reason to believe it will be, that the Ironsides and iron clads will come out the defeated party, with worse results than those attended in the first attempt. The enemy fired about 80 shots, mostly 15 inch and steel pointed shells at Sumter. This estimate was made from Sullivan's Island. Forty struck the works. One ten inch gun was temporarily disabled by a shot, one columbiad, old pattern, burst, one seven inch rifled gun dismounted by recoil, and one gun disabled by fracture of the elevating screw through recoil. Not a person was killed in Sumter from any cause. Sergeant Faulkner and three privates were injured by a shower of bricks thrown from the rampart by a large shot of the enemy. A drummer boy was struck in the head by explosion of a shell over the parade ground; a negro laborer was also wounded. All are doing well.

NEW YORK, April 18.

A Fort Monroe letter of the 16th in the Herald says: From deserters it is ascertained that Longstreet in person commands the rebels near Suffolk; also that the greatest portion of the rebel army is withdrawn from Rappahannock, and is concentrating in eastern Virginia and North Carolina.

Gen. Seymour, chief of Gen. Hunter's staff, left Fort Monroe on the 10th for Port Royal with despatches.

NEW YORK, April 18.

Rebel telegram.—Charleston, April 13.—All quiet. A few blockaders and the frigate Ironsides off the bar are the only vessels in sight. A steamer arrived this morning from Bermuda with a cargo of army equipments, &c., for the government.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 18.

Flour dull and drooping, 6,50@7,00 extra state; 7,20@7,30 R. H. O. Wheat dull, entirely nominal. Corn unchanged. Pork dull and heavy. Whisky dull, 44@45. Stocks steady and inactive. Gold 52c.

The Cahawba from Port Royal 15th, reports all monitors returned to Port Royal. United States troops have occupied Seabrook and Folly Island. Gen. Ferry, Capt. Worden and other officers came passengers by the Cahawba.

NEW YORK, April 18.

Rebel dispatches report that large federal reinforcements have arrived at Grenada, Miss., and that the new plan is to send a large force to each of the three railroads running south. Grant joins Rosecrans by water. Kirby Smith assumes command of the rebel forces west of the Mississippi, Alexandria, La., to be the headquarters.

A Chattanooga dispatch admits Van Dorn's defeat at Franklin, and confirms the former account.

Nothing later from Washington, N. C.

Richmond papers report the arrest and return, on Monday, of nearly 400 rebel officers. The Examiner of the 15th says that the 55th Va. regiment destroyed the federal cavalry camp near Williamsburg; five federals killed, and several wounded. Fort Magruder is immensely strengthened by new redoubts and rifle pits. The federals shelled the town three hours, but nobody was hurt. Some of the rebel forces are in ridges commanding the city, waiting for the federals to show their heads.

The rebel accounts of the destruction of gunboats and transports on the Cumberland proves an exaggerated version of the Palmyra affair, on the 2d inst. Another rebel account says they destroyed $100,000 worth of stores at the captured camp at Williamsburg.

Correspondence of the Chicago Journal.

The Trials and Sufferings of Unionists in the South.

PADUCAH, Ky., April 13.

No true Union man can look upon the sufferings of the refugees, now fleeing from Tennessee, with indifference. The gunboats Lexington, Robb and Silver Lake recently made a trip to Florence, Alabama, and, on their return, took on board and brought to Paducah a large number of them. Most of the men have been obliged to live, together with their families, in the woods or beside a fence with a few boards placed over them for a shelter, for a long time, to escape the relentless conscription of the rebel government. We have it from reliable sources that the rebel government have adopted a new plan to keep together their unpaid troops. They send out parties of two or three hundred each to forage and steal everything they can, belonging to friend or foe, and dividing it, one-half going to the rebel government and one-half to the thieves. In order that the inhabitants shall not actually starve on their hands, they leave each family one hundred pounds of bacon, and take all else eatable about the premises.

Great effort is now being made in Tennessee, and some of the Gulf states, to form companies and resist this relentless conscription and robbery, but no great result has been attained yet. The men who are expected to control a movement of this kind are those who have never thought or acted for themselves, but depended upon the men who are now leaders of the rebellion; they are consequently without a leader for the Union. Who will lead them? Is there not some Garibaldi in all the land who has such an ambition? A man of ability would find thousands of men who are ready to give the enemies of their country a fearful blow, in the mountains of Eastern Tennessee and Northern Alabama. A force of not more than five hundred men could rally around them thousands, who, when organized and equipped, could give the rebels a taste of their own mode of warfare. Why delay longer? The people of those sections were long ago promised aid, but have received none. Their arms and ammunition have been taken from them, and they look to the north for men, arms, &c., to commence operations against an unscrupulous enemy. Let recruiting offices be opened and subscriptions taken, and the money expended in fitting out men to go and assist our friends who are defending their homes and fighting for the Union. It is truly said that those who are in the Union army are patriots, but how noble a position will they hold who fight without pay or hope of any, other than a satisfaction of knowing they acted nobly. More anon. FOSTER.

From the Madison Journal.

The Old Flag of the Sixth.

Major Hauser, of the 6th regiment, delivered to-day at the executive office, the old regimental flag of the gallant 6th regiment, worn and torn, and tattered in the fierce conflicts of Gainesville, Bull Run 2d, South Mountain, Antietam and Fredericksburg. It will be replaced by the governor with a new flag, under the law passed at the late session. The following admirable letter from Col. Bragg, now commanding the regiment, accompanied the flag:

HEAD QUARTERS 6TH REGT. WIS. VOLS.
NEAR BELLE PLAIN, VA., April 1, }

His Excellency the Governor of Wis.:

SIR:—On behalf of the regiment I have the honor to command, I return to the state of Wisconsin, the Regimental Color presented this regiment, in the summer of 1861.

We part with with it reluctantly, but its condition renders it unserviceable for field service. When we received it, its folds, like our ranks, were ample and full; still emblematical of our condition, we return it, tattered and torn in the shock of battle. Many that have defended it, "sleep the sleep that knows no waketning;" they have met a soldier's death; may they live in their country's memory.

The regiment, boasting not of deeds done or to be done, sends this priceless witness to be deposited in the archives of our state.

History will tell how Wisconsin honor has been vindicated by her soldiery, and what lessons in northern courage they have given southern chivalry.

If the past gives any earnest of the future, the "Iron Brigade" will not be forgotten when Wisconsin makes up her jewels. I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
EDWARD BRAGG,
Col. Com. 6th Regt. Wis. Vol.

FROM REBELDOM.—In Richmond on the 23th ult., gold was lower, having declined to 84 premium selling rate. Silver is quotable at 25 per cent. below this rate. There was a general upward tendency in all articles of indispensable necessity, caused, as the Richmond Dispatch says, partly by a lack of transportation facilities, and partly by the hesitation of producers to send supplies to market, for fear of impressment. The Dispatch adds:

"The bill which lately passed congress, insuring just compensation for all articles impressed, has been signed by the president, and is now a law—in addition to which the adjutant general has issued an order forbidding the impressment of supplies on their way to market, for sale on arrival. Surely the people of the interior need have no further hesitation in performing their real duty of relieving the distress occasioned in the cities by a scarcity of provisions.

Apples are quoted at $30 to $60 a barrel; bacon by the hogshead at $1,50 to $1,75 a pound; coffee $4,37; salt 40 cents and rice 30 cents a pound. Common whiskey is $35 a gallon, good $40, and apple brandy $24.

The Tullahoma correspondent of the Richmond Examiner says that a review of the troops took place on the 21st ult., which "was by no means brilliant in point of pageantry, but as an exhibition of swarthy strength was imposing in the extreme." The writer sees no immediate prospect of a battle. He says: "There is a rumor of the resignation of Gen. Breckinridge. This surely cannot be so. A fact of the kind would be extremely unfortunate. I do not credit it."

DIXON ELECTED.—Returns received from nearly every county in the state indicate the re-election of Chief Justice Dixon on the home vote, with the army vote to hear from, which will increase the majority by from 8,000 to 10,000. This is the strongest possible protest against copperheadism, inasmuch as Judge Dixon was by no means popular with a majority of the party by whose votes he was elected, and was only voted for, in order to attest the indignation felt for copperheads, and to prevent the election of their representative man to so important a position.—Berlin Courant.

Eight deserters confined in Fort Independence, at Boston, awaiting trial, were drowned on the night of the 9th, while attempting to escape in a small boat.

DIED.

In this city, OSCAR OTTO, youngest son of Louis and Emily Scantlan, aged 11 months and 5 days.

Funeral will take place on Sunday, the 19th inst., at half past three o'clock P. M. from the residence, corner of North First and Bluff streets. Friends are respectfully invited to attend.

SOUTH FIRST STREET.

Specifications for Grading, Laying Gutters and Building Crosswalks on South First Street, between Main Street and Jackson Street in the Third Ward.

GRADING.—The road bed will be 30 feet in width between the gaging of the gutters; and the center line of the road bed will be 15 inches above the bottom of the gutters. The road bed when completed will be crowning and uniform in surface, rising regularly from the bottom of the gutters to said center line. The grading will be estimated by the cubic yard in excavation, nothing being allowed for earth in embankments, surfacing, &c.

The material for embankment will be taken, first, from the sides of the road and in such manner as to form the gutters and a grade for sidewalks.

And, secondly, from the excavation to be made in the line of the road.

When the haul does not exceed 100 feet it will be estimated simply as earth in excavation and bids must be made for one cubic yard, for every 100 feet over 200 feet.

The material for the road bed is to be earth and clay, and no stone or gravel to be used.

GUTTERS.—The gutters, one on each side of said street are to be six feet in width at the top and eight inches in depth, at the lowest point.

The gutters will be paved with good sound stone eight inches in width and planed upon their edges, and laid upon sand and gravel, and in such manner as to form a curved channel for the water. The shape of the gutters and the manner of laying the outside courses of stone, will be such as the aldermen of said ward may direct. The paving will be estimated by the lineal foot, which will include preparing bed for the stone, laying stone, pointing said gutters, &c.

SIDEWALKS.—The bed for the sidewalks, on each side of said street, will be 12 feet wide, composed of sand or gravel or other good material, and will correspond, in grade, as near as may be with the center line of said street; the said walks are to be made six inch and even and ready for planking.

CROSSWALKS.—At the southern intersection of Main, Division and Wisconsin streets with said South First street, there will to be three crosswalks three feet in width and composed of two courses less than one foot in thickness and three feet in length, all well laid.

All said work to be done under the direction of the alderman of said third Ward.—Dated April 10th, 1863.
